This activity permits to discover a new game from a typical region of France.

Method :

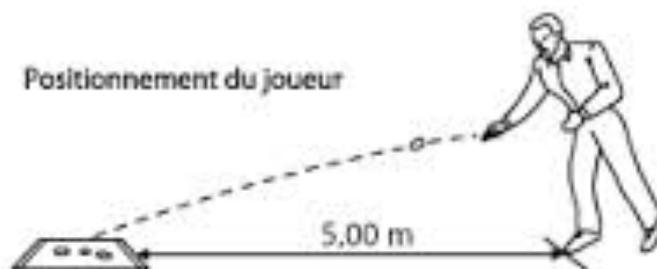

- Each player chooses one or more pairs of pucks with the same number.
- Players must stand 5 meters above the bottom of the board, the feet on the tape.
- To determine who will start the game, one player from each team throws a puck. The nearest small puck determines the team or the player who starts the game. The player throw the small puck on the board. He has the right at any two before moving the hand test his opponent who also have the right twice.
- The winning player throw the small puck and plays two pucks. Thereafter, it (and its partner there are teams) will replay that when beaten by an opponent, or so last.
- When all the pucks are played, the winner is the one whose puck is closest to the small puck. It is the winner who revived the small puck for the next game.
- Each puck nearest winner's small puck account to a point. The first puck being the loser or the pucks after the winner, stops counting points the rest of shuffleboard.
- A puck that hit or that is on the floor is zero.
- A game is played in 12 points.
